Research ICT Africa (RIA) a non-profit, public interest research entity, is conducting research on how information and communication technologies are being accessed and used in Africa. The aim is to measure the impact on lifestyles and livelihoods of people and households and to understand how informal businesses can prosper through the use ICTs.

The information collected can be used to set universal service targets, evaluate policies and regulatory interventions designed to improve access, service quality and affordability of information and communication technologies.

I would like to appeal to you to participate in this important survey. It will help us understand the issues around access and usage of ICTs and provide advice to policy makers and regulators.
